Subject: JCC zoning

We are writing to strongly urge the planning commission to grant the zoning variance requested by the Stroum Jewish Community Center to make critically needed improvements to existing structures and for a much-needed expansion. JCC programming is a magnet for a significant number of Mercer Island residents of all denominations, as everyone is welcome at the JCC.

The JCC Preschool, After School Day Care and Summer Day-Camp programs are of the best in the region and are almost always full. So many Mercer Island parents rely on the JCC as a safe, nurturing environment for their children to be cared for, taught and encouraged, while they are at work, taking care of elderly parents or engaged in other activities.

The combination of the JCC gymnasium, workout rooms, sports courts, pool and locker rooms are, by far, the best combined facilities on the Island, and available to all Islanders. The senior fitness and social programming is also unmatched on the Island. The auditorium hosts performing arts programming as well as the Seattle Jewish Film Festival. However, this, and so much more, is all being accomplished in an old facility that is badly in need of upgrading or, in some cases, replacing with newer, larger and more energy-efficient facilities.

With its growing popularity, the JCC needs upgrading and expanding to meet the needs our community. Without it, The JCC may have no choice but to find a city that appreciates and welcomes the services that the JCC uniquely offers to a surrounding community. We have not doubt that the presence of the JCC on Mercer Island is a strong reason people choose to live here. Please don't force them to search elsewhere for a supportive local government. Please don't allow a few vocal objectors to drive one of Mercer Island's most cherished and utilized resources to relocate elsewhere.

Sincerely,

Carol and Andy Harris
